One of the world's most respected wine reviewers, Stephen Tanzer, describes the Maquis 2006 as having “mellow, smoky aromas of cherry, singed plum, licorice and oak. Packs a solid punch, offering sweet dark fruit flavors and good spicy lift. Shows an exotic floral quality on the long, sappy, sharply focused finish.” 90 points.

WINE&SPIRITS MAGAZINE

About the 2006 Maquis Lien, Michael Franz writes, “I’ve been very impressed with every vintage of this wine ... but this one may be the best release yet. It shows the complexity, texture and overall class of a much more expensive wine.” He awards it 91 pts and calls it the Best Wine of the Year!

About the 2006 Maquis Lien, the International Wine Review Tasting Panel writes, “the nose reveals aromas of ripe black fruit and cassis that are mirrored on the palate with violet notes and black pepper. The wine shows good body, round tannins and a long and persistent finish.” 90 points.
